- HTML CSS
I am a passionate web developer with knowledge of HTML and CSS. I have created a complete responsive website using simple and clean design principles. The website is fully mobile-friendly and works smoothly on different screen sizes. I also have experience uploading and managing projects on GitHub. I enjoy learning new web technologies and improving my frontend development skills. I am hardworking, quick to learn, and interested in building user-friendly websites with attractive designs.

- Php developer
I completed a PHP-based project during my college studies, where I worked on web development, database integration, and backend functionality. This project helped me improve my coding, problem-solving, and teamwork skills.
